Changes ahead for the Taskforce

Changes to NRM&E's Regional NRM Taskforce will be going ahead over the next few weeks, but business will continue as usual during this process. The Taskforce was originally established for a short period of time to facilitate the establishment of healthier regional arrangements for natural resource management (NRM) across Queensland. The department has been reviewing its internal service delivery arrangements over recent months, looking specifically at how NRM&E works with regional NRM bodies. The department has been looking at future options to support policy development and service delivery to regional NRM. For further information contact Paul McDonald (Ph. 3224 7520).

New regional NRM website

www.regionalnrm.qld.gov.au is the new place to go to find out about healthier regional arrangements. This new whole-of-government web site will act as a conduit to information on emerging regional NRM arrangements and planning. The web site is promoting a community based regional NRM planning system and was developed as a tool to be used by people with an interest in NRM. Key areas of the web site, such as the community funds grants web page, aims to aid and inform community-based NRM groups by providing easy access to information on funding. Other areas include program drivers, news and events and planning information. For further information contact Carl Glen (Ph. 3224 7792) or Clinton Parker (Ph. 07 3896 3288).
